Jill has become a dear friend as we've worked together over the years, and I find her sensitivity to the Holy Spirit's desire to love and heal His children is only matched by her own love and care for people while walking with them on their journey toward freedom.

Jill Monaco communicates with passion and articulation on many different levels. Her radical love of God permeates all the venues she has been able to speak in. The women I lead and serve as a part of Establish Her were greatly inspired upon hearing her story and truths grounded in the Word of God. Jill's childlike faith is contagious, and her Christ-centered expression is needed in this generation. Honored to call her a dear friend and fellow communicator in the arena of Christian influences.
